Workforce Race Equality Standard for Wales

Every person and every organisation in Wales benefits from having a just, inclusive and accountable workforce in health and social care.

The Workforce Race Equality Standard is a tool that will bring together data about the workforce to help monitor the experience of workers from ethnic minorities.

Social Care Wales already collects information about the social care workforce through its annual data collections, while its Have Your Say surveys capture the experiences of workers. Anonymous data from both will be used as part of the Workforce Race Equality Standard.

This work will support organisations to target action to address the biggest issues and improve the experiences of the ethnic minority workforce.
