Foreword

Social Care Wales are the Sector Skills Council for social care and early years and childcare in Wales, thus taking responsibility for the early years and childcare workforce working in the private and voluntary sector.

Social Care Wales are responsible for promoting and supporting high standards across the early years and childcare workforce. We do this by working in partnership with employers and stakeholders to ensure that the workforce in Wales has the right skills and qualifications to work to a high professional standard, and is capable of delivering high quality service. The List of required qualifications to work within the early years and childcare sector in Wales is at the core of that work.

Section 1 - Introduction and guidance

The List of required qualifications to work within the early years and childcare sector in Wales has been coproduced with the sector for the sector. The list provides guidance for early years and childcare employers, practitioners, learning providers, and other organisations about the required occupational qualifications for those working in early years and childcare with children below the age of 8 years.

This list should be used in conjunction with the Qualification List produced by Skills Active, the Sector Skills Council for play workers and any other list developed by Sector Skills Councils with responsibility for parts of the early years workforce working in different sectors (eg: health, education). It should also be used in conjunction with service standards and regulations, where stipulated by the Care and Social Services Inspectorate Wales (CSSIW).

The achievement of qualifications will rely upon assessors who have the knowledge, competence and capacity to support people through their qualifications. Investing in workforce development through the achievement of qualifications can help to create a culture of learning, build the competence needed for future assessors and increase the strength and professionalisation of the whole service and organisation.

It is important to encourage a culture of self-improvement and ongoing professional learning among practitioners. This should commence on entry to the workforce. The Early Years and Childcare Induction Framework provides a structured start for workers and helps to identify development needs.

Working in childcare is about so much more than just supervising children: while practitioners may work with children and families in a way that seems effortless, in order to do this well they need to be trained professionals with a high level of skills, knowledge and behaviours. Continuing Professional Development (CPD) is a about planned, on-going development of a person's knowledge and skills throughout their working life, it keeps people motivated and develops good practice and quality services.

CPD is important because it ensures you continue to be competent in your profession. Aside from learning about something new, there are many reasons to undertake CPD. CPD can give you new knowledge that may help you to deal with new or complex situations; it can help you achieve your career goals by focusing on learning and development, will give you confidence in your role and demonstrates your commitment to developing your skills and knowledge. CPD will also keep you motivated and up to date with best practice; this is really important after a career break.

Other mandatory training:

Other mandatory training is required under as part of registration and regulation requirements for example, first aid. Please refer to regulations and contact CSSIW for further guidance.

1.1 Early years and childcare service areas within Social Care Wales footprint

Social Care Wales 'footprint' for early years and childcare covers day care services for children below the age of 8 years. These include: full day care and crèche facilities; childminding and sessional day care. Please refer to Glossary for definition of these areas.

Flying Start and Foundation Phase provision that sit within day care services have additional qualification requirements to those laid out in the regulations for regulated childcare. These have been set by the Welsh Government and are laid out in the qualification tables.

1.2 Definitions of job roles for Qualifications required for regulation

Please refer to the Glossary.

1.3 Status of the Qualification List

1.3.1 Does my qualification have to be on the list?

Yes, these are the qualifications which are needed for practice for regulated childcare and Welsh Government Policy for Flying Start and Foundation Phase where this is applicable. Current accepted qualifications appear in the first column of the list.

1.4 Qualifications required to meet regulations

These are requirements that apply to childcare settings; they aim to ensure safe and quality services. They are published by the Welsh Government and the Care and Social Services Inspectorate Wales (CSSIW) take them into account when they undertake inspections. There may be additional qualification requirements that are not required by regulation but are a requirement of Welsh Government policies.

1.5 Qualifications required to meet Welsh Government Policy

Qualifications for Flying Start and Foundation Phase are set at a higher level by Welsh Government Policy.

1.6 Other qualifications accepted for practice

1.6.1 What if my qualification appears in the other qualification accepted for regulation column? Can I still practice?

If your qualification appears in the other qualification accepted for regulation column you can still practice but must make sure you keep up to date with training and development. Please refer to the section on Continuing Professional Development.

1.7 Criteria for qualifications to appear on the Qualification List

For a qualification to be accepted and placed on the List it will have needed to meet a set of criteria known as the 'design principles' and of prime importance is that they are based on NOS and that competence is assessed in the workplace.

1.7.1 New degrees that meet design principles

These new degrees meet the design principles as assessment of competency has been embedded within the structure of the qualifications.

1.7.2 My qualification is not on the list, can I still practice?

The qualifications which appear on the list are the qualifications which are needed for practice under regulation for regulated childcare and Welsh Government Policy for Flying Start and Foundation Phase where this is applicable. If your qualification does not appear you do not have the correct qualification to carry out that role. You should speak to CSSIW who can help you further

If your qualification is in Playwork, please refer to the Skills Active List of Required Qualifications to work within Playwork sector in Wales skillsactive.com/country/wales/list-of-required-qualifications-for-wales-playwork

1.7.3 Level 3 Extended Diploma in Children’s Care Learning and Development (CCLD):

The design principles for all qualification development and full time education provision – the extended diploma – are listed below:

- Must contain the occupation competence qualification Diploma in CCLD (cited in Nurturing Children, Supporting Parents Policy Statement from Welsh Government);
- Title must explicitly reflect the occupational competence qualifications;
- Must be fit for purpose in Wales and meet the requirements of Flying Start and Foundation Phase;
- Must provide progression option to HE with 360-420 UCAS points;
- Provide an exit point with unit accreditation and or diplomas (nothing else so awards and certificates won’t be developed as jump off points);
- Must offer a full time option to enable younger learners, time to learn, develop, mature and prove competence;
- Should contain generic units that any awarding body can offer;
- Should provide additionality for employers in terms of employability and skills mix for their staff teams.

1.8 Qualifications on the Qualification List that do not meet the design principles

1.8.1 Edexcel BTEC First Diploma CCLD (Level 2) / CACHE Level 2 and the Diploma in Childcare and Education (NQF)

These qualifications will remain on the current list as part of the transition to the Level 2 Diploma in Children’s Care Learning and Development (QCF) but will only be accepted if commenced prior to 2014.

1.8.2 Edexcel BTEC Level 3 National Certificate / Diploma Children’s Care, Learning and Development – CCLD

These qualifications will only be accepted if commenced prior to 2014.

1.8.3 BA Early Years and B.Ed / BA Primary Education

These qualifications do not meet the design principles (i.e. based on National Occupational Standards and that competence is assessed in the workplace) to practice within an early years and childcare setting and are therefore not accepted unless:

- they were commenced prior to 2010 for specific job roles
- or they are held by those working within Foundation Phase services.

1.9 Equivalence and prior learning

Other qualifications or previous learning - you may think that you have a qualification that is the same as, or similar to one on this list. There is no way for employers or Social Care Wales to check this for every person, just by looking at the list of things you studied, or your certificates. Only qualifications on this list are accepted in Wales, but the qualification or learning you have could go a long way to meeting the standards for Welsh qualifications. Awarding bodies may be able to help you check if you need more learning or what else you may need to do to get a qualification on this list. This might mean converting your qualification to fit what is needed in Wales. They do this by matching and testing your learning, knowledge and skills to those needed for the qualifications on this list.

1.10 Qualifications gained outside Wales

The Qualification List only specifies those early years qualifications offered in Wales. Social Care Wales has reached an agreement with other UK partners about which early years qualifications would be accepted in Wales from other UK nations.

Where a practitioner presents with a qualification that they have achieved outside of Wales but within the other UK nations, those responsible for recruitment should refer to the Social Care Wales's publication entitled, Qualifications across boundaries - comparison of competence qualifications across the UK; this outlines the early years and childcare qualifications that are acceptable for practitioners to work in Wales.

1.11 Induction for early years and childcare practitioners

The Early Years and Childcare Induction Framework for Wales provides a structure for induction into early years and childcare, outlining what an early years practitioner needs to be able to know and do in their first six months of employment. The Early Years Induction Framework for Wales assists in the development of skilled, competent and safe early years and childcare practitioners. Furthermore, there is a requirement within the regulations for regulated childcare⁶ that all practitioners should receive induction training which includes health and safety and child protection policies and procedures during their first week of employment.

1.12 Continuing Professional Development

The third column in the list aims to identify and suggest qualifications or units that can help to progress careers and develop your role as part of your continued professional development. This could be in leadership and management Level 5 or as an advanced practitioner Level 5.

Specific standalone units from the range of qualifications available can also be undertaken to provide on-going learning in particular areas. A series of mapping leaflets have been developed outlining the most suitable units for practitioners working within the different areas of early years and childcare, these are available on Social Care Wales' website.

1.13 Academic qualifications and learning for career progression and continuing professional development

Social Care Wales recognises the value of academic qualifications in developing and enhancing a practitioner's knowledge and practice. Social Care Wales suggests that HEI's and FE providers may be contacted for further information and advice.

1.14 Welsh language and culture

Social Care Wales encourages the promotion of Welsh language awareness and cultural sensitivity. The importance of understanding language development and bilingual development within a specific Welsh context should not be undervalued. The early years and childcare workforce have a fundamental role to play in supporting the Welsh Government's vision is to see the Welsh language thriving in Wales and to see the number of Welsh speakers increase to one million by 2050.

As an early years and childcare provider one of the most important skills your staff needs to have is communication skills. These are skills in communicating both with the children and their families, other staff members and external partners e.g. Care and Social Services Inspectorate Wales (CSSIW).

Communication in the child and family's preferred language is important in order to ensure that the child's needs are met. Some of the qualifications listed are available through the medium of Welsh, advice should be sought from awarding bodies where these are required.

Glossary

Full day care	Regulations describe full day care as ‘facilities that provide day care for children under eight for a continuous period of four hours or more in any day in premises which are not domestic premises. These may include day nurseries, children’s centres, some family centres and wrap around care’.
Crèches	Regulations describe crèches as ‘facilities that provide occasional day care for children under eight and are provided on particular premises on more than five days a year.’ These can be provided in either permanent or temporary premises and care for children while parents are engaged or involved in activities.
Childminder	Registered childminders are childcare professionals working in their own homes to provide care and education for other people’s children in a domestic setting.
Homebased carer (Nanny)	A nanny is an individual who provides care for one or more children in a family home as a service.
Sessional Day Care	Sessional day care, also sometimes known as Cylch Meithrin, playgroups or pre-school playgroups provide sessional day care and education for children. The age range of pre-school providers is from two to five years, although some providers only take children that are three years of age and above.
